

NZFSSRC 2018 Annual Symposium, Monday 02 July 2018, Distinction Hotel, Hamilton

- 0900-0915 Introductions Professor Nigel French, NZFSSRC Director; Dr Kevin Marshall, NZFSSRC Governance Board Chair
- 0915-1015 Session 1 Using a Variety of ‘Omics’ Techniques in Food Safety Research Chair: Patrick Biggs
Narelle Fegan, CSIRO – “Omics for improving food safety and stability: the Australian perspective”
Ravi Gooneratne, Lincoln University – “Gut microbiome, probiotics and food safety”
Helen Withers, MPI - “Will “omics” enable more effective food safety regulation?”
Greg McCullough, Fonterra – “The use of Modern science in Industry”
- 1015-1045 Break
- 1045-1145 Session 2 Identifying & Tracking Chemical Hazards in Food Using Chemometric Approaches Chair: Tim Harwood
Darren Saunders, ESR - “The Midas curse: chemical hazards in our food and the tools we use to define and defeat them”
Peter Varelis, Shimadzu - “Is it Fit-for-Purpose?: The importance of mass spectrometry in the analysis of chemical contaminants in foods”
Andrew Pearson, MPI - “Exploring the use of chemometrics in food safety regulation”
Justin Bendall, Fonterra – “A Commercial Perspective on Chemical Analysis for Protection Against Food Safety Risks”
- 1145–1245 Panel Discussion: “The impact of emerging technology on food safety and the role of the NZFSSRC” Chair: Libby Harrison
Panellists: Tim Ritchie, MIA; Ian Jenson, MLA; Greg McCullough, Fonterra; Bryan Wilson, MPI
- 1245-1345 Group Photo & Lunch break
- 1345-1445 Session 3 Data Analytics for Food Safety Chair: Frederique Vanholsbeeck
Dion O’Neale, UoA – “From the ground beneath your feet, to your credit card receipts: how data analytics can help with NZ food safety”
Roslyn Hickson, IBM Research Australia –“Data-based disease forecasts in public health”
Alison Stringer, Stats NZ - “Never mind the buzzwords – making sense of data analytics”
Harry van Enckevort, Assure Quality – “Data Analytics for Food Safety and Beyond”
- 1445-1515 Session 4 Three-minute thesis (See attached) Chair: Miranda Mirosa
- 1515-1545 Break
- 1545-1645 Session 6 NZ China Food Protection Network Chair: Phil Bremer
Eddy Fang, Xi’an Jiaotong-Liverpool University, “Social Media and the Diffusion of Information: A Computational Experiment on the Emergence of Food Scares”
Cathy Xu, Jiangnan, Jiangnan University, “Milk scandal and China Milk Trade under food safety regulation”
- 1700 – 1745 Networking over Drinks & Nibbles; Gallagher Centre, University of Waikato
- 1745 – 1915 Panel Discussion, “The Future of NZ Food Production and the Implications of Emerging Technologies” Chaired by Kim Hill
Panellists: Caroline Saunders; Martin Cole, Miranda Mirosa, Ray McVinnie

New Zealand FOOD SAFETY SCIENCE & RESEARCH CENTRE

Three-minute thesis

- Factors affecting the diffusion of new traceability technologies for food safety in the food industry
- Chinese consumers' concerns about air pollution and implications on perceptions of 'safe' food
- Investigating the effects of spinal curvature on the body composition of farmed New Zealand king salmon (Oncorhynchus tshawytscha): a novel application of dual-energy X-ray absorptiometry
- Advanced diagnostic tools and analytics: Presentation title: Optical sensors to predict the quality of meat in real time
- Advanced diagnostic tools and analytics: Presentation title: Monitoring viability of Staphylococcus aureus in near real-time
- Metagenomic analysis and culture-based methods to examine prevalence and distribution of antibiotic resistance genes on dairy farms
- Listeria monocytogenes persistence under natural antimicrobial agent Nisin
- Campylobacter infection from the country to the city
- Elucidating the source and transmission of tetrodotoxin in New Zealand bivalves
- EU-China Safe project
